

Martin Eriksson has worked with the Swedish Wind Ensemble in Stockholm ever since he finished his degree at the Royal Collage of Music in Stockholm in 1990.

Since 2001, Martin is employed by Ingesund School of Music/Karlstad University where he teaches in saxophone, saxophone methodology and chamber music, he is also a wanted guest lecturer for masterclasses.

In 2002, Martin was involved in forming the Nordic Saxophone Quartet, which views playing music of present composers its most important task. A number of pieces have been written to the quartet and the ensemble has made a number of tours in Europe and South America.

Throughout the years, Martin has been hired by Sweden's leading symphony orchestras and he has been part of a great number of CD recordings, radio and TV broadcasts.
