

Prof. Stanislaw Tichonow received his professional training at the Novosibirsk State "M. I. Glinka" Conservatory in Russia (M.A. in Piano Performance with L Slonim) and at the Moscow State "P. I. Tchaikovsky" Conservatory (D.M.A. in Piano Performance with R. Kehrer and PhD. in Musicology with M. Smirnov).

S. Tichonow is a representative of Theodor Leschetizky's tradition. Among his scientific works are more than 40 professional articles published in Russian, American, Israeli and Austrian musicology journals, and the book "Leschetizky und sein Wiener Kreis" (Vienna, 2001).

Besides his career as pianist and musicologist, prof. Tichonow currently serves as professor on the piano faculty of the Joseph Haydn Conservatory in Eisenstadt, Austria; before that at Tchaikovsky Conservatory Moscow and at Conservatory Vienna (Private University).

He intensively performs chamber music as founder of his own Leschetizky Trio of Vienna, holds lectures, and gives masterclasses throughout Europe, the U.S and in the Far East. His students have won more than 90 prizes at international competitions in Italy, France, Finland, Portugal, the U.S., Iran, Spain, Czech Republic, Russia and Austria.