

Adriel Collomb was born in a non-musical family and is the 3th of 4 boys. At the age of six, he asked to take him violin lessons. During first two years he studied at the CRR de Montpellier in France, then he became a student of Irina Medvedeva in Toulouse during two years and half, but had lessons during this time only once every three weeks. Despite of this difficult start, during this period Adriel got prizes in numerous competitions in France, played as soloist with orchestra, performed his first recital and was invited to a master class by Tatiana Samouil. Since September 2020, Adriel lives in Brussels with his mother and his young brother and is student of Igor Tkatchouk, first by private lessens, and in his class at IMEP since 2022.
