

Ryan started playing the clarinet when he was 3 and a half years old with his mother, Amy Ng who is a clarinet teacher. After 6 months, with encouragements and hard work he got his first 2nd place in an online competition held by Whole Note Music(2020), Hong Kong. The following prizes included 2nd place in a live competition by Hong Kong Speech & Music Recital Development Foundation(2020), 1st place in clarinet grading class (Pre Junior Class) in the 8th Hong Kong International Youth Performing Arts Festival (2021), diploma in solo online (Group A, under 9 years old) 9th Stockholm International Music Competition (2022).

Apart from the clarinet, Ryan's recent passion is the 3 x 3 Rubik's cube. With both musician parents, they are sorting a way of balance between the practising routine and play time.
