

William is an enthusiastic violinist since the age of five, and at three he already got to know the instrument through watching his big brother play and perform. He loves Paganini's music, and his favorite violinist is Itzhak Perlman. Besides violin, he is a foodie and also loves football.