

My name is Wang Zelai, and I am 15 years old. I live in the fashion capital of Shanghai. I started learning music at the age of 5 and came into contact with the clarinet at the age of 8. I have been studying professionally since 4 years ago. I am currently studying at the Affiliated Middle School of Shanghai Conservatory of Music, under the guidance of a German clarinet performer and Professor Hu Kefei, a Ph.D. in clarinet from the University of Music and Drama in Hamburg, Germany. I really enjoy the process of learning the clarinet, and music often immerses me in it. My hobbies are playing tennis and researching the structure of the clarinet. Playing tennis can help me maintain a healthy physique, and studying the structure of the clarinet can help me better understand the principles of pronunciation and control the timbre.
