

Douglas Zhang is a rising senior in high school at Buckingham Browne and Nichols School in Cambridge, Massachusetts. He has been playing the violin since he was 5 and has been studying with Peter Zazokfsy for 3 years. Additionally, he has been playing in the Boston YOUTH PHILharmonic Orchestra for a year. Previously, he played in the Boston Youth Symphony Orchestras for 7 years and has been in the premier ensemble since 2021. Outside of violin, he runs Cross Country, he is an editor for his school newspaper, and he teaches English to kids in Peng Hu, Taiwan. In his free time, he can be found walking along the Charles River, hanging out with his friends in Harvard Square, and drawing with charcoal.