

Sunny's CV

Known as a passionate and dynamic violinist, Sunny Shi has been honing her skills for the past 9 years and currently studies with Mr. GAO Can, a professor at the China Central Conservatory of Music. Classical music has been an integral part of Sunny's life since beginning piano studies at the age of four, later transitioning to the violin at seven. This lifelong engagement with music has cultivated qualities of discipline, perseverance, and a deep appreciation for the arts. Above all, Sunny finds fulfillment and joy in sharing the gift of music with others and establishing meaningful connections through this universal language.

Sunny is currently an eleventh grader at the Western Academy of Beijing where she holds the esteemed position of concertmaster in the school's String Orchestra and regularly performs in various school events. Taking the stage brings immense joy to Sunny, and she actively seeks out opportunities to perform both within and outside of her school. Notably, Sunny recently represented her school in the 2023 Young Musician's Competition where she was awarded 1st prize in the violin category. She also served as first violinist in the Youth Orchestra of the China National Symphony Orchestra. In summer 2023, she joined the Summer Orchestra Institute of the New England Conservatory of Music as a first violinist. In spring 2024, Sunny participated in the ISCMS 2024 festival as the associate concertmaster of the symphony orchestra.
