

Sakura Lindh, 10 years old, started learning music by going to rhythmic classes at the local church at the age of three. When she was four, she started to take music classes at Svandammens Musikskola, where music was taught using Yamaha pedagogics. Her interest in music deepened and she became especially interested in piano music. At the age of 7, she started to learn the piano at Skandinaviska Musikskolan. She enjoys playing piano and has a strong ambition to learn and develop her piano playing further. She now goes to Lilla Akademien where she learns piano and music. In addition to playing the piano, she sings in a choir at the local church outside of school activities. She also loves swimming and ballet.